

Nicole Young Concludes Congressional Internship

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Congressman Jerry Moran today announced that Nicole Young of Ulysses has concluded her summer congressional internship in his Washington, D.C. office.

"The internship program is a good opportunity for young people to get a better understanding of the federal government," Moran said. "I was happy to have Nicole working on behalf of Kansans."

A native of Ulysses, Young graduated with honors from Ulysses High School in 2001. She is scheduled to graduate from Kansas State University (KSU) with a degree in agricultural communications and journalism in May 2005. As a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, Young is also president of Agricultural Communicators of Tomorrow, the communications specialist for the International Grains Program, editor of the College of Agriculture's magazine, The Agriculturist, and webmaster for Alpha Zeta Honorary.

"I was honored to have the opportunity to work with Congressman Jerry Moran and his staff in serving the First District citizens of Kansas," Young said. "This invaluable learning experience will help me focus my future career goals."

In the office, Young assisted Congressman Moran with legislative and administrative duties on behalf of the people of Kansas' First Congressional District.

Nicole is the daughter of Donnie Young of Ulysses and Ginny Young of Greeley, Colorado.
